Fugate pleads guilty, gets 17 years

EZ Stop Hit-and-Run driver sentenced

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Back in December Jarrod Fugate had some thinking to do. He had to think about either accepting a plea deal from the Powell Commonwealth Attorney's Office for his involvement in a hit-and-run incident that left three people injured, or go to trial on the charges.

Last week that decision was final as Fugate was sentenced to 17 years. Fugate, from Menifee County, had decided to take the deal back on Feb. 18 and last Wednesday he was formally sentenced.

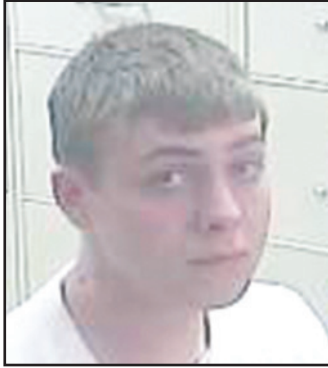

Fugate and two of his friends, Anthony Ryan Romans and his brother, Zachary Romans, were involved in an unfortunate event at the EZ Stop Food Mart in Clay City on Nov. 30, 2013. Following a verbal confrontation inside the store, as employees were trying to get Fugate's license plate number, he decided to leave the scene.

According to the store's surveillance video, Fugate got into a 1998 black Volvo S70 as his passengers, who had been inside the store arguing with store owner Ben Barnett, returned to the car. Store employee Tammy Curtis was standing near the driver's side door, which was open. Barnett followed the brothers to the passenger side door which was also open. Fellow employee Kayla Rivera was standing at the front of the car near the passenger side.

After a few words were exchanged, Fugate started the car as off-duty Powell County Deputy Larry Hall approached the scene. Hall had been at Kathy's Country Kitchen eating when one of the restaurant employees, Travis Hall, advised him there was a problem at the store.

As Hall and former Stanton Police Chief and Powell County Jailer Bill Thorpe, who was also nearby, approached and began to advise the men to get out of the car, Fugate began to back up quickly. The passenger door struck Barnett on the legs, but Hall grabbed him and pulled him out of the way. Barnett did lose his balance after being hit by the door and ended up with a laceration to his hand.

The driver's side door caught Curtis and as Fugate tried to back up onto Highway 11, it knocked Curtis down and dragged her several feet. She ended up on the passenger side of the vehicle.

Hall drew his weapon, but a crowd had gathered and tape indicated that any option for firing a shot was taken away due to bystanders and the intersection. Meanwhile, Rivera moved to the front of the car, which was now pointed toward the intersection waving her hands apparently trying to get Fugate to stop.

The video is reportedly hard to watch, as Fugate drove toward Rivera, striking her and just kept on going.

The car fled the scene as Hall was calling Powell's dispatch center. A state trooper, Jason Brown, just happened upon the scene and pulled in to help. So did off-duty Stanton Police Officer Derek Townsend, who had come to the store to get a pizza.

Powell EMS and Clay City Fire Department personnel arrived to assist with the injured. Both women ended up being flown to the UK Medical Center. Reportedly they were released later that evening. Barnett was treated at the scene.

All three men were found in Mt. Sterling and arrested after a minor physical confrontation there with officers. Both of the Romans brothers were charged with misdemeanors and pled guilty. They served their time and was out of jail within a few short weeks. Meanwhile, Fugate has been in jail for 460 days as of last Wednesday after being indicted by a Powell Grand Jury on April 13, 2014.

Before a deal could be ironed out, prosecutors reportedly spoke with the victims. By pleading guilty Fugate was sentenced to 10 years on all three counts of second degree assault, to run concurrently. He was also sentenced to two years for leaving the scene of an accident and five years for first degree wanton endangerment. Based on court documents the seven years for the last two counts would run consecutive to the 10 years, giving Fugate a 17 year sentence.

Water Update for Stanton

According to Stanton Mayor Dale Allen it now appears that all customers of the city's water department have water. A brutal winter storm and several leaks, with many still being worked on in residences, seemed to be the culprit for the drop in water over the past three weeks.

Allen said that water was restored to all customers last week, but that some leaks still needed to be fixed. The city is now able to get water to their four tanks to provide customers with adequate water supplies. But he does ask that customers still be conservative. The city has asked all car washes to remain closed for now as tanks are filling and leaks are still being repaired.

Congressional honors for one of Powell's most loved

Congressman Andy Barr presented Becky and Doug Brewer with a flag and a copy of the Congressional Record in which Barr honored their son Tyler Brewer. Tyler, a former Marine known for his passion for family, friends, football, nature and helping others, was killed in a motor vehicle accident on Jan. 24. The flag was flown over the U.S. Capitol at the request of Congressman Barr to honor Brewer. Barr spoke to the PCHS students, staff and community leaders on Tuesday afternoon about Tyler's willingness to serve and to help others. He said the loss of Brewer affected people from "coast to coast, as well as in this small community."

Snow falls, river rises as winter hits again

This was the scene on Pompeii Road in Clay City last Thursday when the National Weather Service issued a flood warning for the area. At least one vehicle can be seen surrounded by the waters of the rising Red River and people living in a trailer nearby had to be evacuated. The snow, ice and rising waters made for a messy week for Powell County. An abundance of rain could lead to more water problems later this week.

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

It was a rough week, but it looks like Powell County will get a little reprieve.

Another snowstorm slammed the state last Thursday dropping up to 25 inches of snow in parts of Central and Western Kentucky. Southern sections received ice and few inches, while Powell picked up some sleet and about seven inches of snow.

The storm, named Thor by weather officials, was the second to hit the area in three weeks. But locally the snow became a secondary issue for Clay City residents. The melting and runoff, coupled with rain the day before, sent the Red River rising. At one point on Thursday, as the river blocked off roads in Bowen and Rosslyn, then covered Pompeii Road, the weather service issued a flood warning.

Powell County Emergency Management utilized their Code Red warning system to alert Clay City residents to be prepared to evacuate. The National Weather Service in Jackson had predicted that the river would reach 23 feet in Clay City. That would cause moderate flood damage and cover Main Street. The flood level in Clay City is 17 feet.

Residents and business owners scurried to pack things up, move them to higher locations and prepare to leave quickly if they had too. A couple of families had to be helped out as rising waters crept up toward their homes.

Residents of the "Bottoms" in Clay City quickly prepared for the worse.

However, by nightfall the river had begun to recede. According to the weather service and their monitoring systems, the Red River made it to 20.9 feet and crested.

The weather played havoc once again with residents being able to get to the store, work or to get medications. Once again police, fire and ambulance personnel jumped in to help. Road crews hit the roads and streets as soon as they could. The rain before the snow storm hampered chances to pre-treat the roads, so some icy travel was prevalent for most of Thursday. But by Friday road crews had cleared most of the main arteries.

Schools once again were closed after going back for half a day last Wednesday. The storm even forced the 14th Region Boy's Basketball Tournament, being hosted at Powell County High School, to be moved to Saturday. All first round games were played in one day instead of the two-day format originally planned.

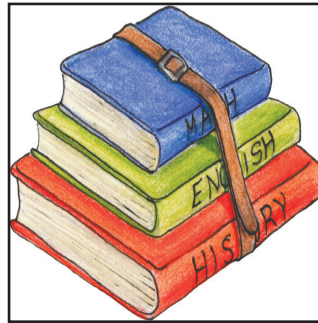

Temperatures by Sunday and Monday reached into the lower 50's, melting most of the snow away. Schools were back in session on Monday for only the second time since Feb. 13.

Now officials will keep their eyes on the river again. Adding to the saturated ground and snow melt-off is a forecast calling for over two inches of rain for parts of the area.

Kentucky Farmers can take nuisance deers, feed the hungry

Deer. To some, they are beautiful animals. To out-of-state sportsmen, Kentucky Whitetails are the stuff of which dreams are made. To farmers here in the Commonwealth, though, they are often a nuisance or worse, gobbling their way through soybean fields at a rapid and alarming rate.

Thousands of acres of soybeans were lost to deer in Kentucky last year alone, and that's a hard situation for farmers to stomach. Fortunately, concerned groups like the Kentucky Soybean Board have stepped up to do something about the depredation caused by the deer population, while helping those who might otherwise go hungry.

The Kentucky Revised Statute (KRS) 150.170 which deals with depredating deer reads: Landowners, their spouses or dependent children, or their designee who must be approved by the commissioner, who kill or trap on their lands any wildlife causing damage to the lands or any personal property situated thereon shall not be required to have a hunting or trapping license and may do so during periods other than the open season for the particular species without a tag and dispose of the carcass on-site. Tenants, their spouses, their dependent children, or other persons approved by the commissioner, shall also have the same privilege. Upon destruction of any wildlife by the above-specified individuals, the act shall be reported to a conservation officer within twenty-four (24) hours of the kill. Individuals wishing to transport the carcass from the property upon which it was killed shall contact personnel of the department to request a disposal tag or other authorization.

Translated, this means that landowners or their designee (which could be the farmer who rents the land) is lawfully allowed to kill deer that are eating the crop, regardless of hunting season without a tag and dispose of it on-site.

Instead of disposing of the deer, Hunters for the Hungry Program encourages farmers to donate deer to feed those less fortunate right here in Kentucky.

Originally formed to help sportsmen donate their harvested deer to those who might otherwise be hungry, Hunters for the Hungry has been in existence in Kentucky in some form since 1988. With an estimated 684,000 people in Kentucky living in poverty, and one in every four children living in poverty, hunger is a very real issue for many right here at home.

Through the shared vision between Kentucky Hunters for the Hungry (KHFH) and its partners, including the Kentucky

Soybean Board, those deer that farmers find to be a nuisance can go to feed the hungry people right here at home. Donated deer will be processed at no charge to the person who harvested it, and the meat will be given to the Kentucky Association of Food Banks, which serves all 120 counties in the Commonwealth in partnership with a network of over 1,000 local food pantries and shelters.

Venison is a lean meat, high in protein, and the deer are generally processed as ground venison to be used in soups, chili, etc.

The Kentucky Soybean Board has set aside enough money to process more than a hundred deer. At an average of 400 meals provided per deer, you can decrease the number of deer munching away on your soybeans while putting a hot meal on the table for someone less fortunate.

Additional information on how to donate deer, along with a current list of processors who participate in the program, may be found on the web at <http://kyhuntersforthehungry.info>.

Big News for the Seniors

Before all the snow and bad weather set in, Powell County Judge Executive James Anderson met with members of the Powell County Senior Citizens Center to make a big announcement. For three and a half years the county has been trying to get a grant to build a new center. Anderson announced that the grant was approved and the county is looking for a good location to build the new center. The center used to be behind the courthouse, but was moved to the old pool house at the city park when the Powell County detention center expanded. Anderson told the group that while in office he has seen a new Emergency Operations Center built and opened, a new animal shelter built and opened and several bridges have been replaced. "But today there is no bigger honor than to announce that we have the grant for a new senior citizens center," he said. As more details about the grant become available, the Times will report more on the exciting news.

Ale-8 basketball bottles on shelves, but not for long

Ale-8-One is releasing a fourth promotional package called, "The Drink of Basketball Country." The package will be on shelves in most retail locations beginning February 16th while supplies last. Only 62,500 cases of the package will be produced and distributed statewide in this limited run.

"Ale-8 is made in the heart of Basketball country," said DeAnne Elmore, Marketing & Public Relations manager. "It made sense for our next step in promotional packaging to be a basketball theme!"

The crisp clean ginger flavor with a hint of citrus is the same great tasting Ale-8 fans know and love. Loyal drinkers will find that the only change is in the artwork on the 6-pack non-returnable Ale-8 carton and label. The carton resembles the look of a hardwood basketball court and the logo has been transformed into a basketball goal.

"Our drink is exceptional and we want our packaging to represent that," said

Elmore. "This is the fourth package we have done in the span of a year. Each package has touched on who we are as a company and what we celebrate in the Bluegrass."

The green glass bottle with the basketball logo is a very local way to toast your favorite team.

About Ale-8-One Bottling Co. - Ale-8-One, based out of Winchester, KY was developed by G.L. Wain-scott in 1926. The company remains family owned and operated by G.L. Wain-scott's great-great-nephew, Fielding Rogers, who still mixes up the secret family recipe, which uses real ginger and citrus for a crisp, clean refreshing beverage treat.

Robinson to help ensure SOAR stays around

In a committee meeting on Thursday, Feb. 19, Senator Albert Robinson presented SB 168 along with Senate President Robert Stivers and the CEO of Soar, Jared Arnett, to ensure that the agency will continue to promote economic development in the Appalachian Region. Shaping Our Appalachian Region (SOAR), which was implemented by U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers and Governor Steve Beshear, is a 501 C nonprofit organization committed to bringing economic development and opportunity to the Appalachian region to assuage the 7,000 lost jobs resulting from the war on coal. SOAR also is working to increase technology access, improve healthcare, improve infrastructure, and more.

The legislation of SB 168 will set up a funding mechanism, the Kentucky Appalachian Regional Development Fund, to be administered by SOAR, INC. which will oversee grants and opportunities for investment and job creation for the region. Through public and private funds, the project will continue to make a positive impact on eastern Kentucky.

To illustrate the interest, a SOAR summit was scheduled for February 15, and had over 1,000 people registered to attend. This proves the interest and passion for the SOAR initiative. Unfortunately, due to the weather, the event had to be canceled. It will be rescheduled and those wishing to participate will get the chance to be heard on the many issues being confronted through SOAR. To keep up to date with the SOAR initiative, continue to visit www.soar-ky.org.

Don't forget about those Homestead Exemptions

The maximum homestead exemption on real estate owned by qualified persons has been set at $36,900 for the 2015 and 2016 tax periods. The 2015-2016 exemption reflects a $900 increase over the 2013 – 2014 exemption of $36,000.

The amount of the homestead exemption is adjusted every two years in accordance with KRS 132.810 to compensate for changes in the purchasing power of the dollar. The exemption provided state and local property tax savings of approximately $178 million for more than 449,000 elderly or disabled Kentuckians during the 2014 tax year.

To qualify for the homestead exemption, a person must be at least 65 years old during the tax period or have been classified as totally disabled by any public or private retirement system. The property must also be owned, occupied and maintained by the taxpayer as a personal residence on the January 1 assessment date.

Applications for the homestead exemption should be filed in the local Property Valuation Administrator's office.

Arvin brothers take on Frankfort, in a good way

On Feb. 3, 2015 Logan and Dylan Arvin were pages for State Senator Albert Robinson at the Capital in Frankfort. Senator Robinson asked them to page for him back in July 2014 when he helped present the dedication ceremony for the Albert Martin Memorial Highway sign in Stanton.

Logan and Dylan are the great-grandsons of Albert Martin, a WWII hero. They enjoyed the day learning about how bills are presented and passed. Senator Robinson was very pleased with their manners and behavior, and he asked them to come back next year.

Logan and Dylan both attend Powell County Middle School and are in the Beta Club. Both are on the Pirates baseball and golf teams. Their parents are Roy and Tammy Arvin.

Snow plays havoc in Frankfort again as focus of session remains on major bills

By REP. DAVID HALE
Guest Columnist

Another major snow-storm rolls through the Commonwealth again this past week, forcing us to yet again cancel session days due to the treacherous road conditions and power outages at the Capitol. With fewer days remaining before the 2015 Regular Session is scheduled to end on March 24th, much of our focus will be on the major bills of this session. One such bill that passed both chambers is legislation to modernize Kentucky's telecommunications system, commonly known as the AT&T bill, and only needs Governor Beshear's signature to become law. The bill will allow three telecommunication companies, AT&T, Windstream, and Cincinnati Bell, to focus their future infrastructure develop in urban areas on broadband and wireless services, while making sure traditional land line service in rural areas with smaller phone companies remains in place for those who depend on it. Another bill that was approved by the House and Senate reopens Kentucky's budget to allow the University of Kentucky the authority to bond $132.5 million in state bonds for construction of a six-story research facility, with the university paying the other half of the projected $265 million to build the facility. With Kentucky remaining at the top in deaths caused by cancer and strokes, it is hoped this new research facility at UK will help find solutions to Kentucky's health problems.

While those and other bills dealing with issues like strengthening Kentucky's DUI laws, and extending court protective orders to dating couples appear well on their way to becoming law, the fate of other major bills remains in limbo. One major issue remaining is how to combat the impact of heroin on Kentucky families and our communities. Both the House and Senate have heard each chamber's respective bills, and while neither has come up for a vote the sponsors of both bills and other legislators have been holding discussions. None of us want a repeat of last year's session, when we left Frankfort without addressing the heroin issue, and we are optimistic that a final bill will be passed before the session ends. Two other major issues that remain have to do with allowing a local option sales tax in Kentucky, and permitting public-private partnerships for state and highway construction projects. The General Assembly also failed to pass bills dealing with both in 2014, but unlike the heroin issue the fate of P3's and local option sales tax proposal may not be as good. Whatever happens one thing is for sure, this session and the issues left to address could be debated until the clocks hit midnight on March 24th. In addition to the issues mentioned, there could be ideas and concerns important to you that need to be addressed in the final days of the 2015 Regular Session. I encourage you to contact me by e-mail at david.hale@lrc.ky.gov, or call our toll free number at 1-800-372-7181.

SB 76: Some say transgender students need this so their rights are protected too

By KENT OSTRANDER
Guest Columnist

Clearly, any transgender student deserves all the protection and care to which any other student is entitled, but breaching the right of privacy of all other students in restrooms, locker rooms and shower rooms to satisfy that particular student's request is a step too far. State Senator C.B. Embry's Student Privacy Act (Senate Bill 76) provides a framework to accommodate transgender students while respecting the rights and safety of all students. Last year, Louisville's Atherton High School embraced a California school policy that allows a transgendered student to choose the restroom or locker room of their choice. One concerned parent concluded the obvious, "The concerns of one student are being given more weight and legitimacy than the concerns of many other members of Atherton." Several Kentucky schools have struggled with this issue and some have made poor choices. SB 76 eases the burden placed on school boards by providing the needed guidance while still preserving the local board's discretion in addressing the issue for their specific schools. The actual text of the bill lays forth the common-sense reasoning that forms its foundation. It recognizes that "school personnel have a duty to protect the dignity, health, welfare, and privacy rights of students in their care." It also acknowledges that "children and young adults have natural and normal concerns about privacy while in various states of undress, and most wish for members of the opposite biological sex not to be present in those circumstances." These truths are undeniable. Currently, schools have no legal obligation to open restrooms, locker rooms and shower rooms to biologically opposite-sex students. Senate Bill 76 allows schools to have secure choices — an administrator can do nothing, can provide a single-user bathroom, can provide a uni-sex restroom or can allow the student to use the faculty facilities. The one thing SB 76 disallows is putting students of the opposite biological sex in the same restroom, locker room or shower room at the same time. While Atherton's desire to respond with sensitivity is admirable, the policy violates other students' privacy rights. Regardless of a student's sexual inclination, the privacy of other students cannot be compromised. It is time the General Assembly give schools the needed guidance and options to handle such matters. The Student Privacy Act creates a safer environment for transgender students while also honoring the privacy of other students. To oppose this bill is to place the new gender politics before the privacy of students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Resident has advice for City of Stanton for the next time water issues arise

Dear Editor:
We were some of the Stanton Water District customers without water for 10 days, some people were out longer. The handling of this emergency was totally disorganized and ineffective. This WILL happen again and steps must be taken to prepare for future events.
1. Communication: "They are working on it" is not an acceptable response when calling for water status. The Emergency Response center and others can only tell people what they have been told by the water district. Correct information must be communicated to them and the community. Many people thought everyone had water after a couple of days, the Red Alert System should be used to relay correct status so the "good citizens" of this water district will conserve water until everyone has water in their homes. Daily status calls would have been very beneficial and would also curtail unnecessary calls to the Water Department, Emergency Response and 911. Why were calls not placed by the water district to customers at far points to confirm if they had water?

2. Plan of Action: Water leaks must be identified and water meters shut off. When I called the water district with this suggestion, I was told this was not possible because the valves would freeze. The Clay City water district used this system to identify homes with broken pipes. This proactive response by them reduced their down time for customers. Stanton must adopt similar methods. As a customer and county resident, who did not have broken pipes, I expect the Water District and the County to help each other to address this without "turf battles" of who is responsible for what. Every time I called the Water District will any type of suggestion the only response I had was "We can't". Negatives never resolve any problems.

3. Emergency Meetings: The City of Stanton and Stanton Water District, to my knowledge, did not call any emergency meetings to address the water situation. I do believe a meeting was held, but it was far into the water emergency. This cannot happen again. Weather true or not, the lack of response by the Water District relayed the message of: The City of Stanton has water and we don't care about our other customers, and they still have to pay their water bills. Does the City of Stanton and Water District have an essential services plan to conserve water? If they don't they must develop one. When water is out for much of the county in their district all water must go to essential services only; County and State Agencies, Clark Energy, grocery stores, gas stations, hardware stores, doctor offices and drug stores are examples.

4. Water Distribution: Estill County started handing out water day two of their water emergency, we did not have any water distribution until day six.

We went to Mt. Sterling and Winchester to even find water to buy and these stores were also running short. We like many others were rationing our drinking water very carefully. We melted snow and caught dripping run off water to be able to flush toilets with liberal use of bleach to try to stave off unhealthful conditions in our homes. This must be handled much faster in future cases. Thanks to the county for finally providing bottled water to those without water. Does the water district not have an emergency plan to handle this function?
In conclusion, I want to THANK the people of the water district who were out trying to identify and repair tower pumps and water lines. They worked many long hours to restore service. Again, THANK YOU! Next time, and unfortunately, there will be a next time, these workers and county residents must have all agencies working together to resolve these problems. Finger pointing, saying it is his fault does not work. We are a small community and working together must be priority.

2014 Work Opportunity Tax Credit deadline has been extended for employers

A deadline for employers to file for a certificate to receive a tax credit for hiring employees in a target group has been extended to April 30, 2015, by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The extension gives employers additional time to obtain the certification for an employee hired between Jan. 1-Dec. 31, 2014, who qualifies for the federal Work Opportunity Tax Credit (WOTC). For employers to receive a tax credit, they must hire an individual who meets the criteria of at least one of nine target groups, including unemployed veterans; ex-felons; qualified summer youth workers and recipients of long-term government assistance programs. This deadline extension will give employers an opportunity to meet those requirements for employees hired last year. For more information about the target groups, please go to www.kentuckycareercenter.com under the "employer section" and click on "tax credits." To obtain certification, Kentucky employers must submit IRS Form 8850 and ETA Form 9061 to the Kentucky Work Opportunity Tax Credit Online System or mail the forms to the Kentucky Career Center, 275 E. Main St., 2WA, Frankfort, KY 40621.

Employers can submit applications via the online system at <https://wotc.ky.gov>. If you have questions, please contact the Kentucky Work Opportunity Tax Credit Unit at 502-782-3465. ## MCTC now offers Physical Therapy Assistant Program

Maysville Community and Technical College is now offering the Physical Therapy Assistant program at the Montgomery Campus in Mt. Sterling. The two-year degree program will combine general education courses and physical therapy courses with clinical experience in regional healthcare facilities.
Physical Therapist Assistants are involved with the direct care of patients who are recovering from injuries and illnesses to regain movement and manage pain. They give therapy through exercise, massage, gait and balance training, and therapeutic modalities, such as electrical stimulation and ultrasound under the supervision and direction of a physical therapist.
According to the Kentucky Occupational Outlook to 2020 report produced by the Department of Labor, Physical Therapy Assistants is the third fastest growing occupation in the state of Kentucky that requires an associate's degree, with an average hourly pay of $22.57. It is also considered one of Kentucky's top twenty occupations with the most annual job openings that requires an associate's degree.
Regional employers agree. "A market-feasibility study clearly revealed a significant demand for Physical Therapy Assistants throughout MCTC's service region, specifically around Montgomery County," said Debbie Nolder, health sciences division chair.
The Physical Therapy Assistant program will be housed on the second floor of the Montgomery Campus building at 201 Calk Avenue. The second floor features 60,000 square feet of newly-renovated classrooms, labs, offices and meetings spaces. "We are really excited about the space," said Montgomery Campus Director Rebecca Morton. "It was designed and renovated specifically for the Physical Therapy Assistant program."
Enrollment in the new program will be based on a selective admissions process and is limited to 20 students. MCTC will be hosting several pre-admission conferences later this spring and dates will be announced soon.
For more information about the Physical Therapy Assistant program contact Debbie Nolder at 606-759-7141, ext. 66253 or by email at debbie.nolder@kctcs.edu.

Now Can spring be far behind??

Spring officially begins on Thursday, March 20-the day we have all been waiting for! It has been one long, cold winter. But with spring’s arrival, we have several things to do out in the field, the barn and landscape. This month’s article will be a combination of things to put on your farm “To Do” list (as if you didn’t have enough already).

Pastures and hay fields : You still have plenty of time to seed clover and grasses on existing pastures. Pastures will green up quickly as the sunshine becomes more prevalent. Over-seed-ing can probably be done for the next 10-15 days or so, but after that, you will need to disturb your fields by 70-80% with a disk har-row to make cuts in the soil. After harrowing, broadcast seed into the field, then use a culti-packer or drag to cover the seed.

All the good seed in the world won’t grow well if you don’t use lime and fer-tilizer. You will only know the exact amounts you need with a soil test provided by the University of Kentucky soil testing lab. Unfor-tunately, now during this time of year, soil tests may take at least a week to ten days to get back to you and you need to fertilize NOW. If you can’t wait for your soil tests, you may want to fertilize pastures with 75 pounds of urea (46% N), 100 pounds of 60% potash and 75 pounds of DAP (18-46-0) per acre to give your pastures the boost they need to better feed your cows.

For your clover/grass hay fields, apply 100 pounds of 0-0-60 (muriate of pot-ash) per acre, 100 pounds of DAP per acre (18-46-0), and 100 pounds of urea, (46%) per acre. After the rain washes in the fertilizer, just sit back and watch the grass grow!

Watch your Cows: This is calving season as most beef producers already know. Watch all your cows and newborn baby calves to make sure every animal is alive and well. Cows start-ing to calf should have their calf within two hours, once they start pushing. After that two hour period, old bossy may need your help to bring her new baby into the world.

Once the weather warms up the grass will start to grow. Unfortunately the cows will leave the hay bales and start grazing grass, which is mostly wa-ter and lower in nutrients. Grass tetany season usual-ly begins around the first of April. To avoid grass tetany in cows, make sure that grass tetany blocks are available to all animals. Magnesium blocks are what farmers need to avoid this problem. One problem however, is making sure all adult cows in the herd take advantage of the blocks and get the extra magnesium into their system. Basic mineral blocks are good, other times of the year, but do not have enough mag-nesium in them to avoid this problem. Also contin-ue to feed cattle grain and hay while the grass greens up to avoid grass tetany problems.

Out in the Lawn: It is al-most impossible to imagine that we will be able to mow our lawns in the next 20 -30 days or so. As I write this article, mine still has mas-sive piles of snow on it! It is hard to imagine ever mow-ing grass again, but I have mowed grass many times in March.

Get the lawnmower bat-tery charged up, get the blade sharpened and oil changed, get the weed-eat-er serviced and get ready for the weekly mowing rit-ual now before hardware stores get bombarded with other people doing the same thing as you are.

Lawn weeds will be abun-dant soon, especially wild onion. If you can’t stand them any longer, spray on-ions and chickweed with products containing 2-4D and dicamba, but keep in mind 2-4D will curl up and kill those pretty daffodils and tulips that are peek-ing up out of the ground. Spray on a day that is 50 degrees of better and try to avoid spraying on a windy day-extremely difficult to find in March, I might add.

Remember that pretty crabgrass that took over ev-eryone’s yard in July? Well, all that crabgrass took root and went to seed that will germinate in a few days. To avoid even more crabgrass this summer, apply crab-grass preventer chemicals to your lawn now. Most of these chemicals are granu-lar and must be applied be-fore the crabgrass sprouts. This should be applied by April 1.

Spring Plant Orders

Last call for spring plants! The Powell County Exten-sion Office will once again be holding a plant sale this spring for interested gar-deners and farmers in Pow-ell County. These plants should arrive around April, 2015. All orders must be placed by March 20th, 2015.

Plants include: Straw-berries-Earliglow and All Star varieties-$15/hundred; Blueberries-Blue Ray and Blue Jay-varieties-$6/plant; Blackberry plant-Triple Crown variety-$3/plant; Raspberry plants-Red (Lau-ren) & Black varieties-$2/plant; Asparagus-Jersey Knight variety-$1/plant; Candy Onions-$5/bundle of 60 plants! Candy onions are often difficult to find when you want to plant them in April. Contact the Extension Office this week at 663-6405 to secure your order.

Livestock Association to Meet

The next regularly sched-uled March Meeting of the Powell County Livestock Producers Association will be held Monday, March 23 at 6:30 p.m. at the Pow-ell County Extension Of-fice conference room. All members and potential members are encouraged to attend.

During this meeting we will discuss upcoming cookouts, fundraising ac-tivities and the 2015 schol-arship program for local students. Reservations are necessary for this meet-ing by calling 663-6405 by noon on the 23th.

Now we’re just a ‘shoveling’ . . .

Words of Wisdom: Quotes by Billy Graham

“Salvation is an act of God. It is initiated by God, wrought by God, and sustained by God.”

“Is it not arrogance or narrow-mindedness to claim that there is only one way of salvation or that the way we follow is the right way? I think not. After all, do we fault a pilot for being narrow-minded when he follows the instrument panel [while] landing in a rainstorm? No, we want him to remain narrowly focused!”

“Salvation is always “good news.” It is news of God’s love and forgiveness—adoption into His family— fellowship with His people—freedom from the penalty of sin— liberation from the power of sin.”

“Forgiveness does not come easily to us, especially when someone we have trusted betrays our trust. And yet if we do not learn to forgive, we will discover that we can never really rebuild trust.”

“We cannot ask forgiveness over and over again for our sins, and then return to our sins, expecting God to forgive us. We must turn from our practice of sin as best we know how, and turn to Christ by faith as our Lord and Savior.”

“When God forgives us and purifies us of our sin, He also forgets it. Forgiveness results in God dropping the charges against us.”

“Heaven is real and hell is real, and eternity is but a breath away.”

Notice of Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, L.L.C.'s Proposed Abandonment and Capacity Restoration Project

Take notice that on February 13, 2015, Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, L.L.C. ("Tennessee") filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("Commission") an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("Application"), pursuant to Sections 7(b) and 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, to abandon by sale certain mainline facilities, located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Ohio, and to construct, install, modify, operate, and maintain certain mainline facilities located in Ohio and Kentucky, as described in more detail below (referred to herein as the "Abandonment and Capacity Restoration Project" or the "Project"). The Commission assigned Docket No. CP15-88-000 to the certificate proceeding. Tennessee, a subsidiary of Kinder Morgan Inc., is an interstate natural gas transmission pipeline company that is subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. Tennessee has been in operation since 1943 and its principal office is located at 1001 Louisiana Street, Houston, Texas 77002.

The facilities to be abandoned in place consist primarily of one of multiple looped parallel pipelines that comprise approximately 964 miles of older vintage, mainline pipeline facilities between Natchitoches Parish, Louisiana, and Columbiana County, Ohio (these facilities are referred to herein as the "Abandoned Line"), as more completely described in Tennessee's Application. In order to replace the capacity that would otherwise be lost by abandoning the Abandoned Line, Tennessee proposes to construct and operate: (i) approximately 7.6 miles of new pipeline looping in Carter and Lewis counties, Kentucky; (ii) four new compressor stations, all in Ohio; (iii) additional compression at one existing compressor station in Kentucky; and (iv) additional compression at one compressor station proposed in a separate docket (Docket No. CP15-77-000) to be constructed by Tennessee in Kentucky (collectively, referred to herein as the "Replacement Facilities"), as more completely described in the Application. The construction of the Replacement Facilities will allow Tennessee to maintain service to its existing firm customers. Tennessee proposes to commence construction of the Replacement Facilities and begin the reconfiguration of its system by late first quarter of 2016.

Tennessee is requesting that the Commission issue a final order granting the requested authorizations by February 15, 2016. The issuance of the requested authorizations by that date will allow Tennessee to construct the Replacement Facilities and to carry out the activities necessary to abandon the Abandoned Line facilities by late 2017. During construction, restoration, and mitigation activities for the Project, Tennessee will follow the Commission's Upland Erosion Control, Revegetation and Maintenance Plan (May 2013 version) and the Commission's Wetland and Waterbody Construction and Mitigation Procedures (May 2013 version).

If you are interested in reviewing Tennessee's Application pertaining to the Project, an electronic copy of the public version of the complete Application is available for public viewing at the locations listed on the Project's website, available at the following address: http://www.kindermorgan.com/content/docs/FERC\_Viewing\_Locations.pdf.

Additionally, a copy of Tennessee's Application is available for viewing on the Commission's website at www.ferc.gov. Also available on this website is the Commission's most recent landowner pamphlet entitled "An Interstate Natural Gas Facility on My Land? What Do I Need To Know?" The pamphlet includes the FERC's summary of landowner rights at FERC. You may reach the Commission through its website or by calling the Commission's Office of External Affairs at (866) 208-3372.

Should your property be directly affected by this Project, a representative of Tennessee will contact you in the near future to discuss the Project. Tennessee has mailed notices to landowners directly affected by this Project, to landowners whose property abuts the Project, and to local government entities. If you have not received such a notice, your property is most likely not affected.

Tennessee strives to be a good neighbor as it provides a safe, clean, and reliable source of energy to the nation's consumers and industry. Questions concerning this Project may be directed to Tennessee at 1-800-622-4481.

Kentucky House overwhelming passes legislation on heroin and helping addicts

By DENNY BUTLER
State Rep.- Louisville

While there have been wide-ranging opinions about heroin legislation this session, there is one point on which we all agree. The Kentucky General Assembly must pass a bill that slows and eventually stops the scourge of this insidious drug on our commonwealth.

As a retired Louisville Police sergeant, chair of the House Budget Review Subcommittee on Justice and Judiciary, and a member of the House working group on the heroin issue, I believe House Bill 213 provides the best vehicle for that outcome.

And I am not alone in this opinion.

Members of law enforcement, the medical community, the Justice Cabinet, community stakeholders, mental health representatives, and current and former heroin addicts and their families agree that the policies in House Bill 213 will significantly stem the tide of heroin trafficking while addressing widespread opiate addiction.

As a law enforcement officer, I know firsthand that addiction is a disease, a public health issue. If we don't treat the addiction, no amount of incarceration is going to cure the heroin epidemic. That is why House Bill 213 prioritizes treatment while punishing those who would sell misery and death for their own financial gain.

Those who traffic larger quantities of heroin will receive stiffer penalties. The bill maintains the current lower penalties for those who sell or transfer smaller amounts of heroin, which in many cases is only to finance their own addiction. HB 213 makes treatment more readily available by increasing funding for mental health facilities where individuals can receive medication and counseling to help overcome their addictive disease.

Naloxone is a medication that counteracts a heroin overdose, and making it available to families of addicts and First Responders is a proven lifesaving medical strategy. House Bill 213 ensures this expanded access.

A heartbreaking fact in the heroin epidemic is the birth of infants who suffer Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome, a horrible form of withdrawal, because of their mothers' addiction. In 2000, Kentucky hospitals reported that 28 babies were born withdrawing from drugs; in 2013, 955 cases were reported. That is a staggering 3310 per cent increase. House Bill 213 gives priority treatment to mothers and babies in these circumstances, improving survival rates and long-term outcomes.

Allowing local option needle exchange programs will dramatically reduce cases of blood-borne illnesses such as Hepatitis C and HIV currently causing a public health crisis. Needle exchange programs will also drastically reduce the number of dirty needles discarded in our communities. These programs will also be a first line of intervention, as people who use these programs are five times more likely to enter treatment.

House Bill 213 includes all of these critical pieces that together make up a comprehensive blueprint for tackling Kentucky's heroin problem.

In giving our bill the number 213 we acknowledge and commemorate the birthday - February 13th - of Rep. Joni Jenkins' nephew, Wesley, who tragically died of a heroin overdose two years ago.

The passage of House Bill 213 would honor Wesley and the thousands of Kentuckians who have died of heroin overdoses as well as the devastated families they left behind. Just as important, House Bill 213 would redefine how we help those suffering in the seemingly insurmountable throes of opiate addiction through treatment, compassion and common sense.
